CollegeBound Support: Native Student College & Scholarship Planning Package

*Empowering Native Futures,
One Journey at a Time*

Overview

Native American students continue to face systemic barriers in the college admissions process. These barriers include limited access to culturally relevant advising and a lack of representation on many college campuses. Without tailored support, students may struggle to find colleges that align with their identity, values, and long-term goals.

CollegeBound Journey® addresses this need by offering customized, one-on-one college and scholarship guidance rooted in Native culture and community values. Through a three-session virtual package, students receive individualized support to build a college plan that reflects who they are and where they belong.
